

MĀRTIŅŠ PĀPARINSKIS

CANDIDATE OF LATVIA
FOR THE INTERNATIONAL LAW COMMISSION

2023–2027

Endorsed by the Baltic States: Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania

Dr. Mārtiņš Pāparinskis has a strong academic and professional background in public international law. He is Associate Professor in Public International Law at University College London, with a DPhil from the University of Oxford.

Dr. Pāparinskis is the first candidate from the Baltic States to the International Law Commission (ILC). All three Baltic States – Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania – endorse his candidature.

Since joining the United Nations, Latvia has consistently emphasized the significance of public international law, the rules-based international order, multilateralism, and human rights. These fundamental principles lie at the core of the mission of the ILC and would be a priority for Dr. Pāparinskis in the event of his election.
